Sheridan House helps hundreds of single moms each month with training classes, clothing assistance, food donations and much more.

Some of the boys in our children's residential program.

What are you supporting?

With your help, teenage boys, along with their parents, are mentored through the children's residential program. These boys have behavioral issues at home and at school. Single moms also come to Sheridan House to attend life-skills trainings and to shop for free in our food pantry.

Some also live in transitional housing on campus.

Families and individuals benefit from our counseling centers and the Parenting on Purpose teaching resources.
