Residential Program Update

Soaring to the End of the School Year

As the boys at Sheridan House Residential Program flew through the first semester of the school year, it was evident that many chose to soar above the storms rather than succumb to the struggles. Typically, the boys entering the program displayed undesirable behaviors at their previous schools, such as lack of motivation, school suspensions, acting out, and failing grades. Most of these unwanted behaviors are a symptom of something deeper, like unhealthy family relationships and lack of academic support in core classes.

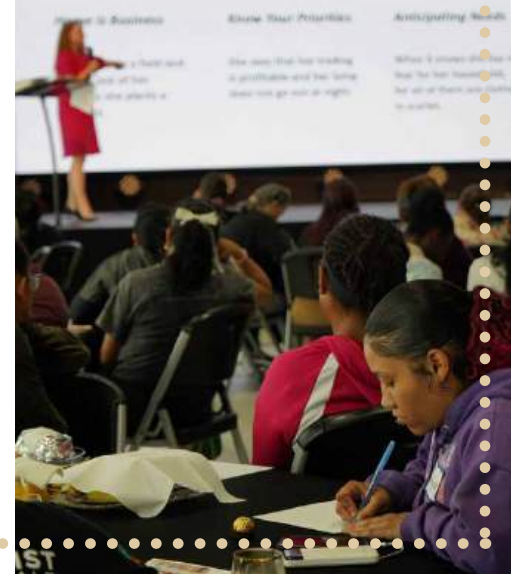

Sheridan House seeks to equip the boys with tools to tackle these undesirable behaviors by working on the root issues. Eddie began the school year with all failing grades and despite the rough start, he continued to push forward. With laser focus on his reading as well as math tutoring and intervention groups, he was able to increase his GPA by more than 300%! Matthew struggled with time management and quickly fell behind in his assignments, also resulting in failing grades. With one-on-one coaching to organize his daily tasks and new healthy relationships at home, he has turned in all assignments on time since January. The success of Eddie and Matthew are among the many God stories we continue to witness here at the Sheridan House!

Single Parent Ministry Update

A Single Parent Training Class in the New Barnes Family Training Center!

In February, we hosted a transformative training class designed specifically for single moms at the new Barnes Family Training Center, drawing an impressive crowd of over 110 moms. This event really engaged them as they learned about the importance of maintaining an organized home. The training emphasized how an orderly environment can significantly enhance mental well-being, providing a sense of peace and stability in the often- hectic lives of single mothers. The moms were also equipped with tips and best practices to help them achieve an organized home through a feasible approach. Our guest speaker encouraged the moms on how an organized home also fosters a supportive community within the home that resonated with the values of love, faith, and resilience.

The training also explored how organization ties into the broader context of living as Christians. Through guided examples, resources, and a step-by-step guide, moms learned practical tips for creating a harmonious home that reflects their faith and nurtures their families. The atmosphere was filled with encouragement and camaraderie as attendees recognized that their efforts to cultivate an organized space not only benefits their mental health, but also enriches their spiritual lives.

Moms learned practical tips for creating a harmonious home.

The moms were also so appreciative of the new space and set-up which created such a welcoming environment for them to relax and receive. The overwhelming turnout and positive feedback highlighted the need for such initiatives, proving that with the right tools, patience, perseverance, and most of all guidance from the holy spirit, incredible transformations can occur.
